

Conservation

The Trust has over 40 years experience in managing nature reserves for wildlife

At Herts and Middlesex Wildlife Trust we believe that wildlife is essential to a healthy environment for human beings. We work for better protection of our precious wildlife and habitats for future generations.

By monitoring and collecting data we can demonstrate an accurate picture of habitats and species that need our protection and by working with people from industry, community groups, landowners, local and central government, national agencies, as well as our members and supporters, we aim to achieve the best outcomes for wildlife across Hertfordshire and Middlesex.

▶ Grazing programme
Keeping our grasslands in good condition is a vital part of our work.