Tap into high quality resources that can help your school utilise the outdoor classroom, plan wildlife and environmental activities for your pupils, develop their observational skills and inspire their interest in the countryside

We would love the opportunity to build a relationship with all local schools and provide the teachers and children the experience and help that they need to continue and develop the children's interest in local wildlife.

The best way we can work with schools is through our special School WATCH Membership. This will provide the school with a library of support and educational lesson plans - helping to utilise the outdoor classroom; developing the pupils' observational skills and inspire their interest in the natural world. It could even contribute towards the 'Eco-School' status, showing their commitment to the environment and local wildlife.

This costs £75 for the year and School WATCH Members will receive the following publications full of interesting articles for you to learn more about your local wildlife, all sent four times a year to coincide with the seasons.

Publication	Quantity	Description
Wildlife WATCH	5	Children's wildlife magazine, full of interesting articles, games and competitions.
WATCH Website		Member's access designed to accompany the series of magazines, filled with fun and educational games and activities, numerous activity sheets and resources for both use indoors and outdoors, as well as other valuable resources for you and your pupils to download and benefit from.
Link	1	Teacher's support magazine aimed at teachers and club leaders, with fun and educational games, lesson plans and activities to explore the outdoor classroom.
Wildlife Matters	1	Membership magazine, to keep you updated with all of our important conservation work, on a local and national level.
Go Wild	1	Events calendar, full of ideas and activities for you to get involved in and get the chance to see your local wildlife up close.
Reserves Guide	1	Our brand new glossy guide to your local nature reserves with top tips of when to visit and what to look out for, as well as directions of how to get to each site.
